SANDRINGHAM
TESTIMONIALS.
From Mr John J. Mahon, Capilla del Señor, June 29, 1881.—The dip which you sent me I used according to directions, and I can assure you that it gave the desired result. During four years of practical experience of curing scab in sheep, I have seen many specifics used, and I consider Gilliard's the only one that gives complete satisfaction. It improves the quality and promotes the growth of the wool. For efficiency, economy and facility of application, I prefer it to any dip I have used.
From Mr. James M. Thomas, Estancia Santa Ines, Monte, June 29, 1881.—Having given a good trial to Gilliard's Dip, I have much pleasure in bearing my testimony to its valuable quality as a Sheep Dip. It destroys all insect life with which sheep are infected, mixes readily in cold water, does not injure the hands, and softens all hard parts, I shall strongly recommend it whenever an opportunity offers. As regards the cheapness, it should command a good sale.
From Mr. Wm. Petty, Estancia Caro, Colonia, Sept. 20, 1881—
"I feel great pleasure in informing you that the sheep dip supplied by you to me under the name of Gillard's Sheep Dip has had surprising results on my English long-woolled rams; it has kept them entirely free from scab after only twice using it, although those rams have been constantly running in a flock of scabby sheep. I intend for the first time to give it a trial with the whole of my English breed of sheep as soon as I have them shorn, as I feel satisfied I shall with that did keep scab out of the flock."
From Messrs. Patrick Mahon, junr., Ciriaco Morales, and James Murray, Capilla del Señor, Sept. 18, 1881—
"It gives us great pleasure to inform you that, after giving a good trial to Gillard's non-poisonous sheep dip, we can pronounce it to be the best specific we have used as yet, and we are fully determined for the future to use no other remedy."

CORRIENTES

The heading of this article might lead our readers to suppose that we, like the most of our colleagues, are about to expatiate on the political state of that singular province. But, although we feel deeply interested in the question of good government in each and every one of the units that go to form the Argentine nation, we are rather inclined to the opinion that the foreign press in this country is powerless to modify situations brought into existence by the passions of political parties. We are content to leave the amelioration of party abuses to the salutary action of time, and the future predominance of more civilizing elements in the Republic.

We are led to the remembrance that the province of Corrientes forms a part of the nation, by reading a paragraph in our daily papers, stating that one of the Senators for that province, has presented a 'solicitud' to the Legislature asking for a monopoly of twenty years, for the exclusive navigation of the rivers Corrientes, Miriñay and the Santa Lucia, as also the exclusive exploitation of the lake Ibera. We suppose that Corrientes is the only province of the Argentine Republic where such a preposterous pretension could be tolerated; but it is by no means improbable that the enlightened assembly of Guaranis will accede to all Mr Miguel Gelabert demands.

The river Corrientes is already navigated up to a certain point. It has always abundance of water. The Miriñay and Santa Lucia are also navigable rivers, but obstructed by vegetable debris and aquatic plants. The Corrientes and the Miriñay are the two principal rivers of the province, the first debouching into the Parana at Esquinas opposite the Alexandra Colony, and the second into the Uruguay opposite Santa Rosa, some fifty leagues above Concordia. The river Miriñay, besides a number of creeks, receives the great bulk of its volume from a chain of lakes that proceed from and form a part of the great marsh of Ibera, that extends nearly to the shores of the upper Parana.

The lake of Ibera with its series of marshes, occupies an extension probably equal to a tenth part of the superficies of the province of Corrientes. In its centre there is an island that it is said is fifty leagues in circumference. The aborigines, the Guarani tribes and their descendants, to this day experience a kind of awe in relation to this mysterious lake, which for this reason has never been thoroughly or even superficially explored. An Englishman, enticed by the reports of the great abundance of game said to exist on the islands, made some excursions, but was unable to penetrate any distance into the lake on account of the reluctance of the peons to accompany him. The people of the country are very superstitious about this huge lake. Although they believe it contains great riches in game and timber, they fear to penetrate into its solitudes. There are a number of legends attached to its mysterious islands, and devoutly believed in. It is said that when the Guaranis overcame the Tobas, and drove them into the Chaco, on the opposite side of the river Parana, a number of the vanquished tribe took refuge in the big island of Ibera, and are there to this day. Another legend says that at the time of the expulsion of the Jesuits, a number escaped to the islands of the Ibera with a large amount of treasure, where they have at the present time a flourishing kingdom. They corroborate this by asserting that on clear days columns of smoke can be seen ascending from the enchanted island. One circumstance, however, that has probably had the effect of preventing any exploration of this mysterious region is the enormous quantity of alligators of great size that infest its waters. Ibera or Ivera is formed of two Guarani words, 'ivi' water, and 'ira' clear.

We are inclined to think that even if Mr Gelabert succeed in getting his ridiculous monopoly of river navigation, it will require another and entirely different generation to develope the river trade of Corrientes, and open up to the vulgar the wonders of Lake Ibera.

THE BLANCO TESTIMONIAL.

Few public men have passed from amongst us more generally regretted than Don Eugenio Blanco, late Defensor de Menores. In every walk of life, in every branch of our varied community, the late Mr. Blanco has left footprints of charity and kindness which his many friends now seek to commemorate by a statue,

It would be impossible in our narrow limits to give our readers a full list of the life-long charitable services of Mr. Blanco. His care of the orphans under his charge was more than parental. Unceasing in his efforts, he had the great satisfaction of seeing the orphans not only housed and fed, but educated, trained and started in life.

Mr. Blanco seems to have taken the Sister of Charity for his model. In every epidemic we find him visiting the 'conventillos,' consoling the sick, helping the poor, and from his pocket paying for their wants, and in many cases their funeral expenses. He was in every sense an apostle of charity. His name, at least for the present generation, will be cherished in every circle, but his friends seek to give it greater permanence, and with pleasure we publish the subjoined circular, signed by some of the first men in this city, which has been kindly handed us by Mr. M. Perez del Cerro, who has the honour of presiding over the charitable committee:—

Buenos Aires, March 6th.

Sir,

The undersigned, who are acting in Committee to honour and perpetuate the memory of that self-denying and noble philanthropist, Eugenio Blanco, by erecting a monument as a tribute to his virtues and sacrifices, have the honour to solicit your help in the matter and whatever sum you may wish to contribute.

The realization of our proposal involves an act of justice, as besides being a sign of respect to a good and worthy citizen, it will be a stimulus to good deeds.

The erecting of this monument will show that our people are animated by high sentiments, and that the following words of a great thinker are a beautiful truth:—

The law of sacrifice is not obligatory, but Humanity has crowns and altars for martyrs and heroes.

We send you the act of installation of our Committee, in which the many good deeds of Mr. Blanco are briefly set forth, showing what a magnanimous soul he was.

Should you join us, pray forward your donation to the Treasurer, Dn. M. Puiggari, 448 Victoria, from 3 to 5 p.m., and he will publish the donations as received.

Your faithful servants,

LONDON LETTER.

BRADFORD INDUSTRIES
AT THE MANSION HOUSE.

(From our own Correspondent)

February 15th, 1882.

Mr Lord Mayor Ellis is bent upon signalising the last year of the aldermanic sovereigns of the city of London. During his reign the Mansion House has been literally placed at the disposal of suffering classes as well as of unprosperous crotchets. The Jews, the landlords, the Bradford woollen manufacturers and the Bimetallists, have in their turn appeared, or are about to appear, at the metropolitan Hotel de Ville. Last night it was the turn of the Bradford people, who engaged as stars for the occasion, Lady Bective and the Marquess of Salisbury, supported by the Marchioness of Ailesbury, the Countess of Mayo, the Countess de la Warr, the Countess of Ilchester, the Dowager Countess of Mar, and many other noble ladies, as well as some members of Parliament and other gentlemen, all more or less representing the Conservative persuasion, which at once renders the philanthropy of the movement suspicious. The Marquess of Salisbury said distinctly that were the question in any way political he should not have been present; and that it must be dealt with purely on national and patriotic grounds. In saying this he quoted a part of the introductory remarks of the Lord Mayor which, as fully reported, were these—'Questions like this upon which the commercial prosperity of the country depended should not be treated either as party and political questions, OR AS QUESTIONS THAT HAD BEEN SETTLED ONCE AND FOR ALL.' The words I have underlined will convince any one who can read more than the mere letters, that Lord Salisbury's 'notorious memory' was again at fault; and that he overlooked the very manifest indication in the Lord Mayor's speech, that the meeting of ladies, the object of which was ostensibly to change the fashion of women's dresses, was in reality to attack the commercial policy of the country supposed to have been 'settled once and for all.' The meeting was in many senses discreditable to the fine people who took part in it. Intellectually discreditable, in assuming that the 'commercial prosperity of the country' depended upon the momentary use or disuse of crinoline or of petticoats stiff or limp; and morally discreditable in palming off political or politico-economical objects under the disguise of philanthropy. Amongst the gentlemen who took part in the proceedings was Mr Eckroyd, the notorious champion of 'Fair Trade' or, in other words, of the Lancashire spinners who find it inconvenient to be opposed in the market by the fine woolen yarns of France and Belgium. Mr Mitchell, who seems to have acted as the business dry-nurse of the movement, explained that the movement originated in a desire to improve the position of the farmers of the country, the clips of English wool having sold for the last few years 6,000,000 stg less than 12 or 15 years ago. The question, he said, as if in parenthesis, also affected an important industry. The manufacturers of Bradford, he had the courage to assert, were determined not to be outdone by the French. They had established a good technical school, and were convinced that not only in the matter of price but in the beauty of their goods they could beat their foreign competitors. He suggested the formation of a 'court of fashion,' which should be in intimate relations with the manufacturers of the country.

It is almost incredible that in these days a man of business could propose anything so idiotic. Possibly Mr Mitchell is a ladies' man and if also a manufacturer he may look forward to intimate relations with a 'court of fashion' as something pleasant, if not profitable. But the hypocrisy of the whole thing is too glaring. Mr Mitchell may tell the Countesses or the marines that the six millions sterling lost in English clip during the last ten years was owing to a change of fashion; but people acquainted with the question know that all classes of wool have during that period fallen in price, and that much of the English loss is not in price, but in diminished production owing to wet seasons and the prevalence of rot. Fashion has certainly had a great deal to do with the losses of the Bradford trade, and when Mr Mitchell appeals to the sympathies of his flock, male and female, at the Mansion House, by telling them what the poor Bradford people are doing to meet French competition, he omits to remind them that except in obstinately pursuing their old system of manufacture and waiting, like children, for a change of fashion, they have absolutely 'done nothing', and this I know from official sources. The official words I have seen are these—'the French system in this town (Bradford) is still in its infancy.' What poor Lady Bective and other well meaning ladies, supported by epicene and intriguing M. P's, are really doing, as all protectionist movements philanthropically but mistakenly adopted will do and have done, is to injure the progress of the woollen manufacture of this country, to encourage it in obsolete methods, and eventually to entail on the country the loss of millions, for the sake of a little temporary spurt in the Bradford trade, by a mere change in the style of women's petticoats or dresses; a change that, unless womankind be suddenly reformed, would not last a season. I know that you gentlemen in B. Ayres are intensely interested in this question, and are rightly looking forward to mechanical changes in the systems of English woolen manufacture, But it is not on that account I draw your attention to the meeting at the Mansion House, but rather for political reasons and to show the depths of lunacy to which the same classes of people will descend in this country that in France have just ruined themselves in insane speculations for the cause of the altar and throne. Lord Salisbury is at least old enough to know better. He has lived through the Free Trade movement and the rise of the railway system and the latest triumphs of steam and machinery; he has heard the very words he has used at the Mansion House in favour of the artisans of Bradford, repeated over and over again in regard to some particular interest—coach-horses, coach-drivers, farmers, Spitalfield weavers, Dunstable bonnet-makers, threshers, mowers, handloom weavers, and still the man can have the face to spout out in this wise—"' Of course they'—the ladies—'were not asked to prefer the worse to the better, or to set aside any solid recommendation which goods of a foreign manufacture might have, but in respect to the enormous mass of their purchases which were merely dictated by those motives collectively included under the name of fashion, they were asked to remember that something more than the gratification of their own taste, however legitimate that gratification might be, depended upon the selection they made, and that it was in the power of each in her sphere and in proportion to her purchases to determine whether or not large bodies of English artisans or large bodies of English agriculturists should flourish or decay—whether industries that had given employment and comfort to great numbers should be permanent or should die away; whether the sources of prosperity in this country should flow with new and abundant volume or whether, at least in some of their important branches, they should dry up."

And this is the cynic who talks of Mr Gladstone's 'pulpit strain of eloquence.'! The Countesses at the Mansion House were, no doubt, affected to tears, and they would drive West, and rather than the sources of prosperity of this country should not 'flow with new and abundant volume,' they would invest six shillings in a woollen comforter—probably of Berlin—and six or sixty guineas in a Japanese screen. Lord Salisbury is a student of Blue Books; he must know by the income tax returns how many ladies in this country are in a position to make 'the enormous mass of their purchases from motives collectively included in the name of fashion.' If all the female upper ten thousand were to spend their pin-money in Bradford goods it would be as a drop in the ocean in regard to the woolen industry of this country. As a curious instance how the sentimental nonsense of these male and female devotees at the Mansion House might be corrected by a common knowledge of statistics, I have just heard, on another subject, a man express his alarm for the prosperity of the farming interests of this country at being told that six thousand tons of frozen meat were coming from Australia in the next few months. Why London alone consumes a thousand tons of meat a day. 365,000 tons of meat in the year!

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Saturday next, Lady Day, will be a strict holiday. The event of the day in English circles will be the annual picnic and athletic sports of our Southern Railway friends at Lanus. Cards were sent round yesterday. The programme is splendid, but, as usual, too long for our columns; the public may, however, take our word for it that the Sports will probably be the best of the long succession of successful meetings held by the railway employees.

Our special Exhibition reporter bought a stylographic pen yesterday and set to work, but, as there is no great hurry in the matter, we hold his opening chapter for tomorrow.

The Boers are at it again, according to Havas, but he reported the same a month ago, and it came to nothing. If the Dutchmen wont keep quiet, they will be deprived of their Home Rule again, and finally.

We heard a distressing rumour yesterday to the effect that the Poetry business at the Exhibition had broken down. What will become of the country if this should prove true? Euterpe is in better fig than Clio, and the Committee have summoned all the professional and amateur musicians in town to a 'concurso'. Names can be entered up to 10th April.

We received yesterday from a kind friend a copy of 'The Reciprocity Craze, A Tract for the Times', by G. W. Medley, a little brochure of 36 pages. Never have we seen the false doctrines of Protection so trenchantly and ably exposed and the sound ones of Free Trade so concisely and triumphantly vindicated as in this little volume. Those who entertain the delusion that the Protectionist policy of the United States has anything to do with her wonderful prosperity should see how easily Mr Medley disposes of it. Englishmen cannot read this little book without intense pride. Every year their grasp of the world's trade and finance is tightening.

The 'doyen' of our musical reporting corps has favoured us with the following:—

"Meyerbeer's remarkably fine five act opera L'Africaine, was splendidly performed on Tuesday night. I think all the artists sang better than ever they did before, it was a great success; the finale of the 2nd act was executed in magnificent style. The duet in the fourth act by Borghi-Mamo and Tamagno was indeed a most touching melody. Batistini, who took the part of Nelusko, made the public well acquainted with the power and excellent quality of his voice which is daily more appreciated. The theatre was crammed and always will be, so long as the public are treated to such beautiful operas so well put on the stage. There was only one fault, and that was the ship, which is certainly a perfect caricature; still we can steer clear of the vessel and listen attentively to the crew; those before the mast sang admirably, in fact the whole opera was most satisfactory; even the ballet, which never was much, is improving and perhaps some day or other may be worth looking at.

The Old Stager

Another suicide, Mr Cattaldi, an old engraver in Calle Esmeralda, who went out of his mind from reduced circumstances and made away with himself. Strange changes of life! Mr Cattaldi founded the 'Asilo de Mendigos.' The epidemic of suicide now is something awful.

We are informed that the reason the gas in the Exhibition cannot be turned off at will to let the Electric Light be seen by itself, is that doing so, after the gas is lighted, would involve a serious waste of it. What the Committee should do is to name some night on which the building or a section of it, would be illuminated solely by the Electric Light, and in this way a fair comparison could be instituted. The advocates of gas are sublimely confident of winning in such a trial, and we are much inclined to back them, say for a new hat from our friend Sommer.

The Exhibition is proving a trifle too much for the tram companies On Tuesday night at 11 p.m. there was gnashing of teeth amongst the large 'concurrencia' for want of cars to carry them home to bed. We commend this fact to the hackney coachmen.

The official mania for imposing fines on the Northern Railway for every little delay and inconvenience has reached a ludicrous point, thanks in a great measure, we suppose, to the diurnal prodding from the juvenile 'cronistas' of our native colleagues. Every day, as regularly as the sun rises, some subordinate official gives himself an appetite for breakfast by recording a fine of 1000 2000 to 5000 paper dollars against this railway. The thing has reached a most indecent pitch, and we trust that the sensible and dignified letter which Mr Santa Maria, the Company's representative here, has addressed to the Provincial Minister on the subject will have the effect of putting a summary stop to it.

The album subscribed for for Dr Irigoyen, Minister of Interior, for settling the Chilian Question, will be presented to him to-night. The Committees will meet to-night in the Coliseum at 8 o'clock, and from thence go to the Minister's private house to present the album.

Last evening the Minister of Foreign Affairs gave a grand dinner party, at which the President of the Republic, the Lord Mayor and other distinguished citizens assisted. There was no deficit in the wines or viands, and smiling plenty graced the Ministerial board.

The city is filling fast with friends from the camp and rivers dropping in to see the Exhibition. All the steamers and railways are doing a roaring trade, and each day we see the faces of friends who have not come to town for years. As yet however, the Exhibition is not in full blast, next week things will be more complete and our friends outside need not be in too great haste into town, as each day shows improvement.

The cart before the 'caballo' again! The Juries to hear petitions for abatement in the Contribucion Directa Tax have been named; their ears are ready to be lent with strict impartiality to friends, Romans—beg pardon Buenos Aireans!—countrymen and lovers; the limit for hearing claims has been fixed, (30th April) yet oh! ye gods and little fishes, 'boletos' for the Contribucion Directa have not been distributed yet by the Government! We pause, not for a reply, but for breath.

Dr. Benjamin Posse has been named President of the Water Board, No better man could be selected for the important post.

We feel much pleasure in congratulating Dr Jose C. Paz on his appointment as Charge d'Affaires in Paris. We wish him a pleasant sojourn in the City of Palaces. In no place is diplomatic life so jolly as in Paris.

There is a hegira of our 'beau monde' to Europe commencing. By the French packet to-morrow and the next Royal Mail steamer dozens of members of High Life will start for Europe—Dr. Viso, Mr. Rom, Dr. J Paz, Mr S Unzue and family, Mr Zemboraín, Dr Manuel Aguirre and daughters, Dn. Felix Bernal and family, Mr Runciman and family, Mr Newton for Australia, Mr Fernandez (Immigration agent) for Cork, and hosts of others.

Eight people died in Lomas on Tuesday from eating meat cut from a cow that had died of 'grano malo.' This is a most serious business.

The invitations to the grand Bachelors' Ball, to come off at the Coliseum on the 12th of April, were given round yesterday, affording the ladies plenty of time to prepare their dresses.

Our aesthetic readers will find a chapter to interest them in our supplement to-day. He's a queer young fish that Oscar Wilde. What are the odds that he does not get married and done for before he gets out of the United States?.

Another import will very soon be stopped here, and that is Cheese. We recommend all who doubt this fact to inspect Dr Wineberg's show of Cheddar cheese in the Exhibition. Better could not be made in England. All the European cheeses of the continent have long been imitated and even surpassed here, but it was thought that the luscious cheeses of England could not be produced here. Dr Wineberg has successfully solved the problem. Let those who doubt us buy a cheese of his and see.

Messrs Vaillant and Pons have issued a neat and valuable 'Guia' of Montevideo, which we strongly recommend to merchants and all visitors to the sister city. Commerce, Science, Art and Industry are all dealt with in this little volume, which only costs 10 m/c.

ON 'CHANGE.

March 22nd

Patacons	25.—
Cedulas A	100¼
Do E	86⅝
National Bank Shares	117½

The market opened this morning with heavy and frequent gold sellers, no buyers. The supply of gold to the market is for the moment superabundant. Possibly next week there will be a little more doing in gold, as the Saladeristas are resuming work, and in a few days we may have some stir in hides.

In Cedulas things ruled dead slow owing to the push in the share market.

As for the new stock coming on Change the Deuda Amortizable, there is as yet scarcely a word said, and although the stock has taken a jump in Montevideo it remains to be seen how they will manage to place it here. Mr Lasturria of Montevideo is now on Change and will start in this market under the best protection as broker, and it is possible that many other Montevideans will follow.

Things are resuming a November shape on Change, and the break in the share market continues; how far it will go is the great question. Some of the sharpest still stand back, and watch the progress of the fall; yet many say that the real limit to the fall is the value put on the stock by the leaders of money on it. The game playing is a splendid one for those who control the market, and although much of the profits are purely nominal, being made between the members of the Syndicate themselves, still outsiders by the score are caught in either with dear stock or worse still with heavy differences to cover at the end of the month. The formation of a new Syndicate was whispered at the ring, but it seems very probable that before new men enter prices must go somewhat lower to afford a surer margin. The aim of the Italians is to get the market so heavily oversold that they can catch the stock on the rise and realise their shares at the end of the month at higher prices than what they stand them in. It looks as if the Italians will carry their point We heard on Change of efforts being made for the gathering of a large sum of money. If they succeed possibly new hands will shuffle the cards, but it looks as the market at present stands that the Italians have not the money: outsiders must ever remember that the present drop in the stock is by no means as artificial as the former rise. The shares stand the syndicate from 120 to 125; to get out of them at that price is the rub; the real question for the syndicate is not the price, but the moment the Bolsa can afford to pay in differences. In all the great fluctuations in this stock it will be remembered that the heaviest losers were outsiders, and it seems that another outsider is in now, various rumours were current on Change which we cannot make room for as they affect credit. It seems Prudent Pacheco applied to the Supreme Court that the Judges are not sending the deposits to the Bank, the court has ordered the judges to transfer the syndical deposit.

The sales at the ring were as follows:—

The decision of the Supreme Court about the question of limits has given universal satisfaction; all the estancias in and about Lincoln sold by the Government of B. Aires are now declared in B. Aires, and some land bought by Mr Smithers the other day, supposed to be in Cordoba, is now declared in B. Aires.

At the Municipality to-day there was no session, owing to the want of a quorum; some half dozen of Municipales held a long interview with the President of the Board, and it was unanimously voted to confer full power on the President to nominate all the employees required, which would rescue the members of the Board from the constant application of friends to obtain the employments. Mr Richardis before the Board with a new market scheme, which comes up for discussion on Friday.

The land market showed better to-day and very splendid prices were obtained at Baltar & Quesada's for some 3 leagues of estancia land in the partido Juarez, or say Tres Arroyos. But a few weeks ago some lands down there were put up at a valuation of 170,000 m/c per league and could not be sold. To-day prices showed so much better that lands valued at 105,000 m/c per league were sold as high as 275,400 m/c per league.

The land was—
Lot 1—Area 1,333 hectares, say ½ a league, sold for 100 m/c per hectar, $270,000 per league; buyer J Souto.
Lot 2— Do do do
Lot 3—Do do do

Lot 5—Do do do
Lot 6—Do 102 m/c per hectar, $275,400 per league; buyer George Puig.

All the buyers came up from the South to attend the sale.

The Norwegian barque Friedily has been chartered in the Mount to load bones and bone-ash for Falmouth at 18s.

The sale of 9,000 hides at 7$20 in Montevideo is confirmed: 100 bordalesas of tallow sold at 18½ rls, and 10,000 American hides of 20 to 21 lbs, at 7$75.

It was rumoured this afternoon on Change that one of our Banks, which has made very large advances on Nat. Bank shares, is calling in its loans, and several thousand shares were ordered to be sold at afternoon on this account; but the market gave way so sharply that much of the stock in question could not be sold. Due to one cause or other, there is increased tightness in the money market when shares are offered at the collateral.

It was currently stated that all the judicial deposits, some 100,000,000 m/c will soon be passed to the National Bank, owing to legal request of the President of the establishment.

The Pascal and Dalton sailed yesterday crowded with passengers and with a full cargo.

Mr Reid and family have left in the Pascal.

At Mr Baltar's mart to-day 35,000 m/c per year rent was offered per league for the camp sold in Juarez. One party offered to sign this contract for five years.

The Provincial Bank swopt the market of exchange to-day at 49 5/16 and 49½; the Bank has not yet altered its rates; its operations to-day were—

On France 5.19
On Antwerp 5,20
On Hamburg 4.21

The Provincial Bank discounted to-day eight millions currency.

The Italian str. Genova leaves on the 29th instant for Antwerp; she has a full cargo of bales engaged at 20s and 10 o/o.

Business in the Plaza Once was very brisk this morning. In the South Plaza operations are on the decline. Some sales were effected this morning at 102 m/c. Good wools are always in demand and fetch high prices.

Visitors in the exhibition all admire Mr. Schwartz's fine 'pozo surgente.' Estancieros should get engineers machines on their camps, if they need water. The whole affair including water deposit only costs $35,000 m/c. The water springs from a depht of 60 metres, and the water is supposed to come from the Andes. We want half a dosen of these wells on the Flores Road; they could supply both the road and the village with abundance of water. The water commitee of Flores should study the matter; one well of this kind supplies the entire Parque 3 de Febrero, with all its lagunas.

At afterhours tremendous excitement prevailed in the the National Bank Share parlor The present King of the market sold thousands of Shares, as if in 'remate.' Prices swerved from 116½ to 116 the closing rate. Over 16,000 Shares were sold and nothing could depict the rapidity with which the stock changed hands. Whilst the speculation was at its height, and the floor of the Bolsa was shaking under the Shares' speculation, a ring of fashionable Argentine brokers was in hot discussion as to the artistic merits of Borghi-Mamo and Tamagno. Whilst some brokers are head and ears into the speculations, others keep aloof.

A gentleman has applied to the National Government for 800 kilometre squares of land on the Rio Negro, near Conesa, for colonising purposes. We doubt much if he will get same. Another party has applied for 800 kilometres on the Rio Paraguay, near Orange, for the same purpose.

The Resistencia colonists have applied for their title deeds; as usual the Comisario is the subject of complaint. The Government should be very particular in its choice of Comisarios, as they are often the bane of a colony.

The Span. barque Victoria has cleared for Rio with 184,000 kilos jerked beef.

The Austrian lugger Arturo has cleared for England with 11,763 bags linseed.

The Deuda Amortizable rose 3 o/o on the receipt of the news that the stock would be quoted on the Bolsa here. The issue of the stock is something over 5,000,000 pats. The share king of Montevideo, Mr Farrell, sold yesterday 65,000 pats at 21 o/o.

The Governor of Patagonia has applied for the necessary funds to construct a Government House in Viedma. This expense is perfectly useless, and the money might be applied for some more important purpose than the construction of a Government House at the back of beyond. Even the money sunk in the San Antonio well is more excusable than the present application for red-tape commodities.

The Contribucion Directa and Patents juries begin their sittings, to-morrow in the Calle Maipu 140 and 142.

The Camara Syndical of the Bolsa has called for bids for the purchase of the building. These bids must be presented on the 28th inst.

The Custom House returns up to date amount to an average of 961,000 pats and 56,800 pats per day. We calculate the receipts of the month at 1,400,000 pats.

We take from the English papers to hand the following pertinent remarks of Mr. E. H. Egerton on competition with English productions in the River Plate:—

"Steel fencing-wire has become one of the most important articles of import into this country from England, and the occupation of so much new land in the southern and central districts of this Republic naturally stimulates the demand.

"Though well aware that the French and Belgians had entered into competition with us in the supply of this article, I was not prepared to find—as I did in my late journey to the interior—that the Creuzot firm was practically the sole furnisher of wire to the Rio Quarto district, where extensive tracts of territory are now being inclosed.

"I spoke of this on my return to Rosario and Buenos Aires, and was shocked to hear this attributed by many to the superiority of the Creuzot steel and the longer credits given. On making further enquiries, however, and comparing the English price-list with those of Messrs Schneider & Co., I was glad to find that one English firm at least excels in the quality and cheapness of its wires, those of that enterprising French Company. Indeed, as I roughly calculate, there is a great benefit in using the English article, which can be purchased, say, for 109 with discount for cash, when the French wire for ready money will cost 118.

"The importation of much inferior wire from England at various times, which causes distrust of the English manufacture, and the activity of the French agents, are, therefore, the sole causes of our production of this article not being more largely taken here.

"As regards agricultural implements in those two provinces, I found all were from the United States, as was likewise nearly all the agricultural machinery.

"In the school of Agriculture which I visited in Mendoza I do not remember seeing a single article of English manufacture amongst all the machines and implements kept there, unless I except a threshing machine, which I believe was English.

"The demand now may be a limited one after all, but I venture again to suggest that if English makers of agricultural implements care to study lightness as well as cheapness they would find a growing market in the Argentine Republic.

"I certainly cannot say much for the quality of the American spade and plough now in universal use here.

"The Buenos Aires Exhibition will afford our agricultural machinery manufacturers an opportunity of gaining some ground in this part of the world.

"While on the subject of competition in this market, I may mention that as regards railway passenger carriages and tramway carriages, for which there is much demand here, I hear gene ally from competent authorities that the American manufacture is superior to the English as regards lightness and other points of construction.

"I allude to these three items, in which we are threatened with strong competition or surpassed, because it appears to me that though France, Belgium, and Germany may be able to send here some cheaper classes of woolens, we should hold our own in iron and machinery.

"Our defeats in this, as in many other markets, are perhaps merely the result of plethora induced by a too long trade monopoly, and easily to be cured by active exertion."

Messrs. Oostendorp & Co., in their circular under date Feb. 18th, report the following:—

Hides—
Imports, 2,300 dry R. Plate
6,300 salted do
Stock, 26,400 hides, viz:—
4,500 dry R. Plate
13,700 salted do
5,700 salted Rio Grande
1,500 miscellaneous
900 horse hides.

A quiet tone has prevailed in this market, but previous rates are maintained for all kinds.

Some further supplies of B. Aires summer hair salted matadero ox were received and they found readily takers, as per particulars hereafter.

Small sales of salted and dry horse hides have taken place and present quotations for latter are:—

Fr 9 10 for prime heavy of 7 kilos; f.8½-¾ for fair to good lots weighing 6½ kilos; about f.6½-7½ for desechos, and f.4 5 for foals of 3½ kilos.

Sales sum up to—
1,500 dry River Plate
9,300 salted do
200 salted Rio Grande
800 miscellaneous

Following lots found takers on landing:—
589 salted B. Aires mat. cows, 49 55/100 lbs. special per Mondego, at f.69 for the 14 to 20 kilos, and f.80 for the 20 to 28 kilos.
1,000 salted B. Aires mat. ox, (Weidner), 62 70/100 lbs. sp., per Mondego, at f.76 for the 20 to 25 kilos, f.83 for 25 to 32 kilos, and f 76 for 32 to 40 kilos.
1,000 salted B. Aires mat. ox (Aldao), 63 46/100 lbs. sp., per Mondego, at f.75 for 20 to 25 kilos, f.82 for 25 to 32 kilos, and f.76 for 32 to 40 kilos.
440 salted B. Aires mat. cows (Aldao), 49 62/100 lbs. sp., per Mondego, at f.69 for the 14 to 20 kilos, and f.80 for the 20 kilos and above.

On delivery—
No business has been mentioned here.

Floating Cargoes—
No transactions have been reported on England.

In Liverpool the tone is dull and buyers show no disposition to pay late rate for the old stock remaining there nor to make bids for the new season shipments expected.

Horse Hides—
About 6,000 salted Rio Grande and R. Plate changed hands at about previous prices.

Wool—
Imports, 18,700 bales R. Plate.
Sales by private contract—
500 bales R. Plate
200 bales miscellaneous.
Stock 19,800 bales B. Aires
3,000 bales Montevideo
15 bales Entre Rios
2,400 bales miscellanous

The first series of auctions, which commenced on 31st January and closed on 9th inst., gave following result—

Offered.		Sold.
9,754 bales	Buenos Aires	6,658 bales.
1,440	Montevideo	825
103	Entre Rios	86
5,037	Australian	4,491
1,173	Miscellaneous	273
17,507 bales.		12,333 bales.

At the beginning of the sales an average decline of 10 to 15c. was established for new clip R. Plate wools, on the prices paid by private contract, and this reduction was confirmed at almost all the sittings although towards the close an occasional recovery of 5c. was obtained the total quantities brought forward being about 4,400 bales less than advertised.

Since end of the auctions a quiet tone has been observed here and only very few sales took place.

Quotations for B. Aires invoices averaging a 1st, viz:—
F.1.75-1.85 for superior wools, 35-36 o/o
F.1.65-1.65 for good to fair, 32-34 o/o
F.1.45 for good average, 30 o/o
F.1.30-1.40 for good average lambs', 30 o/o
Fair Montevideo shipments averaging a 2d 40 o/o yield, are worth about f.1.90 to f.2.00
Scoured wools stand in at fs.4.45-5.00 for fair, fs.5.00 to fs.5.15 for good, and fs.5.20 to 55c. for superior 1st [washing and all expenses excluded].

The next London auctions open on 28th Feb. and about 300,000 bales will be brought forward at same.

The fact that several steamers carrying wool from the R Plate to Europe have lately had a portion of their cargo 'on fire' during their passage is attracting here a considerable amount of attention, and it would be advisable that the B. Aires exporters as well as all parties interested should investigate the causes of these accidents in order to prevent their recurrence.

A satisfactory explanation of same is desirable in order to avoid all difficulty with the underwriters.

Sheepskins—
Stock, 148 bales.
No sales.
Buenos Aires invoices, ½ to full wool, averaging a 1st are worth about fr.1.65-70 for very fine quality, and fr.1.45-55 for good average.

AT OUR MART
51—San Martin—51

We will sell to the highest bidder over and above the stipulated basis, for cash, 8¾ league of splendid camp, in the department of San Justo, (Province of Cordoba). Advices we have received about the above camp are most flattering—so let those who wish to secure good land cheap, look alive.

The shape of the lot, its rich pastures, and the liberal conditions on which it is offered for sale (in one or more lots), place it within reach of agriculturists, who require small lots of excellent land.

The low valuation put on this land compared with the prices obtained by the Government, 3,000 pats, is the best recommendation we can offer.

Title deeds faultless.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

Feb. 8th

Instead of dinners or balls, the Ministerial world indulges in receptions, of which nothing is more monotonous and wearisome. You enter, make a bow to his Excellency, and then retire. The saloons are always the same—the ministers only who change, and so rapidly, that visitors make inquiries after their ladies, when the office holders are simply bachelors. On these occasions the buffet is very so-so. After shaking hands with about 50 people whom you are charmed to see, while your admiration for them is several degrees below zero, you make for your bad, to sleep off the delicious evening you have passed.

The public auction mart is at all seasons the most interesting centre of curiosity the capital can afford. It would require the pen of Zola to enumerate all its material impurities. The highest and the lowest strata of society here mingle and are in peace: there are Jews fearless of persecution, besides Boyards and Grand Duchesses, cheek by jowl with Aspasias. All is said to come to the hammer: having knocked down Madame Blanc's diamonds, the public are now disputing her historic laces, some of which must have held a place in Queen Mab's wardrobe. The crown diamonds are not yet offered for sale: it is said the Government dislikes the selling off—perhaps ministers are superstitious—as according to the ancients diamonds attracted thunder. The 'Regent' diamond will be kept as an historical heir-loom: it is valued at twelve million francs, but which according to money test means just the one-twelfth of that sum. Napoleon I. borrowed some of the state diamonds to make a crown for Queen Hortense, who later sold it to Louis Philippe's Queen, who gave it as a marriage gift to the Duchess de Montpensier, who sold it to the Countess de Paris,

Great activity is displayed to multiply schools of design and augment the importance of those that exist. Attention, however, appears to be most concentrated on drawing as taught in the trade schools, and so applicable to special industries. The most eminent public men deem it no small honour to preside at the meetings to further a popular taste for art: the Temple of Ephesus is felt to be in danger, as foreigners are treading on the heels of the French rather closely.

To correct the laziness or inertness of the ladies of the fashionable world here fine art studies are being encouraged, by exhibiting some very fine paintings exhibited by such amateurs: as two ladies by this means have found husbands, the idea may be viewed as a success, more especially as the range of useful work is very limited indeed for French ladies. Artistic clubs in the Place Vendome and the Rue Volney have opened their private exhibitions, a kind of overture of the annual public picture show. The exhibits of real merit, by well-known artists, are chiefly portraits.

M. Roger, a shop-keeper, demanded separation from his wife on the ground of her sympathy with the amnestied communists; when a ship arrived with the amnestied, Madame helped herself to the till, to relieve them: she had a weakness for public meetings of the Jacobin kind: the husband drove her from the house, sold the business, and lived apart. Excited by the oratory of his wife's counsel, he struck his once Juliet in full court. The separation was decreed, and the wife awarded a comfortable income. Chevallerau, was married a second time, but his wife soon turned out to be sickly; as she was always dying, he resolved to aid nature; one night he placed pillows and bolsters on her head sat thereupon, smoking his pipe for half an hour, when he found Desdemona beyond all surgery. Condemned to death, but not to be guillotined.

The Opera masked balls are not very gay, and the monetary crisis is reflected at the gatherings. To stimulate fast life, the orchestra will henceforth be strengthened by choruses. In the theatrical world, the revival at the Odeon, of Pousard's 'Honneur et Argent,' is the only variety to record. The play is aged about 30 years; it is still young and at this moment, apropos, where a young man after paying off his father's liabilities, finds himself later avoided as a leper, when he desires to borrow 30,000 frs. to set himself up in business; but he has a shabby coat; his boots are worn; his gloves are new, as he bought them out of the money he had for his dinner.

The Stock Exchange during business hours is a Bedlam: brokers and touters shouting with full lung power, their offers and demands. The exchange committee has just put up a notice, that henceforth 'useless cries' must be avoided. This applies perhaps to the groans of the dying by the late smash.

A gentleman describing himself as the 'King of the Stars,' was not allowed to see M. Grevy with a plan for making good all losses on Change, paying off the national debt, getting back Alsace, and a few other et ceteras.

A kind soul signing himself 'an escaped from the financial Krach,' sends 100 frs to all the charities of Paris. It's a bad wind that blows nobody good.

THE SCIENCE OF THE BEAUTIFUL.

Mr OSCAR WILDE EXPLAINS HOW HE DEVELOPED THE THEORY HE IMBIBED FROM Mr RUSKIN.

Mr Oscar Wilde was visited by a World reporter Saturday morning in his new home in Twenty-eighth street. He was seated before a writing table which was covered with invitations. He was dressed in a simple black velvet jacket, below which he wore a pair of beautiful brown trousers, from the bottoms of which his patent-leather pumps were seen covering a very shapely pair of feet. His cravat was of a light olive green; brown and green being apparently his favorite colors. Being asked to explain his peculiar theory Mr Wilde said: 'My theory is that you cannot teach anybody what is really beautiful. The true spirit of a planting or a poem cannot by any method be taught—it must be gradually revealed. A schoolboy, for instance, can arrive at an understanding of a scientific truth under a competent teacher, but the only way in which anybody can come to a knowledge of the beautiful is by being thrown among beautiful surroundings. I think if you desire a cultured society you must put the youth of the land into beautiful homes and let them gradually come to feel a necessity for such surroundings. A young man reared among such surroundings has not got to make a distinct effort to appreciate the beautiful. He will, if reading, come at once into sympathy with his author in his description of the true and the beautiful.'

A DISCIPLE OF RUSKIN

'When did you go to Oxford, Mr Wilde?'

'In 1873, and entered Magdalen College. It was at this time that this theory of the effect of beautiful associations began to manifest itself to my mind. This town was by far the most beautiful one that I had ever been in and I experienced its effects on myself. Ruskin was there and I became a disciple of his, and his teachings gave impetus to this thought. Very many of my theories are, if I may say so, Ruskin's theories developed. He was at that time giving a course of lectures on Flor-entine art and had all the youth of the colleges after him. After we had listened to a lecture we would go out with him on the road. They were the most charming rambles imaginable. In 1876 I visited Italy and went through all the churches there, drinking in everything of the beautiful in art, and its whole splendor was revealed to me by association as it never could have been from any mere description. I came back to Oxford more confirmed than ever in the correctness of my theories, and it was then that I began to write my poetry and gradually gathered around me a group of young men; an æsthetic clique, if you will. I had a beautiful house by the river side, which I fitted up in consonance with my peculiar ideas. We were very enthusiastic young men, and inesensibly, as it were, we became extravagant in our expressions as compared with the common manner of converse. Meanwhile rumors began to reach us that this movement of ours, for such it might now be called, had reached London, but we did not realize how far it had gone until one Sunday in the University Church the preacher—we used to have the most distinguished men of the day to preach to us in town—opened his sermon by saying in effect that when young men in the University, not in polished banter but in earnest live up to the level of their blue china, it must become very apparent that a form of heathenism had crept into these cloistered shades which it was their bounden duty to fight with all their power. Well, all this was great sport for us. We were not martyrs, nor were we disposed to be. Just on top of this came Du Maurier's first caricature, and we found very much to our astonishment that we were becoming famous.'

DU MAURIER'S CARICATURES

"Then you went to London?

"Yes. In 1878, I had then fully developed in my own mind what I call my social idea of art; that is that in past times the artist was isolated to a wonderful degree—was cut off from his fellow-workers in all branches and also cut off from immediate contact with the public, the only medium of communication with whom being their books, their paintings or their sculptures. My idea was to sweep away these barriers and bring them more in unison as far as possible; and to establish what may properly be called a correlation of art, so that the artists in different lines should receive distinct assistance from each other. They are all striving to express essentially the same thing, only in different ways. So in the case of society my idea was the same, to sweep away all barriers and bring the artist in direct communication with his patrons."

"How were you received at first in London?"

"I found on arrival there that I was already known, and was well received, and I took every opportunity to preach the doctrines I had evolved and crystallized during my college career. Du Maurier had not seen me when he made his first caricature, but he continued them after he did meet me in society, and I took special pains to greet him cordially, praising his pictures when they were clever and pointing out defects if I discovered them."

HOW MR. WILDE ENJOYED PATIENCE

"And you found converts to your theory in London did you not?

"Oh yes, I found myself surrounded by a clique there, just as I had in Oxford. I was somewhat surprised at this at first. I had not thought it strange that this should have been the case at Oxford, but I did not expect it at London. The movement, if you choose to call it that, grew from week to week and began to affect the drama. 'The Colonel' was written by Burnand and 'Patience' by Gilbert & Sullivan. We attended at the opening night and had all manner of fun. I was not to be laughed out of my theory. I had arrived at what I sincerely believed to be the truth in these matters, and the praise or blame of the public was to me a matter of no consequence whatever. I regarded it only as a help or a hinderance to the development of what I regard as an important social theory.'

'What was its effect on society?

'Through all the upper circles its effect was very general and marked, and no English gentleman would now think of building or furnishing his house without taking into consideration the ideas that have been developed during the progress of this æsthetic movement.'

TRUE ART IN DRESS.

'Does it add to the expense of furnishing?

'Not at all. On the contrary it tends to lessen the cost and so far as dress was concerned this introduction of a true art in women's attire cost much less than the former productions of French milliners or dresses from Worth.'

'Has the dress of men been at all effected?'

'Not much, as yet, but I hope that as the women's dresses have been so much improved, after awhile men will bring themselves unconsciously into harmony with their surroundings.'

'Are the dresses in 'Patience' exaggerated?'

'Not much. I have seen among the advocates of my theory in society some that nearly equalled them, allowing, of course, for the necessity of larger decorations for stage effect. 'As to myself,' continued Mr Wilde, 'I have gone some, what in the true direction, conceding, of course, something to custom.'

Mr Wilde expressed himself as delighted with his reception in this country. 'Nothing could have been more cordial,' he remarked. He said he thought he should have to stay the winter out. 'I shall go from here to Philadelphia,' he said and from there to Boston.'

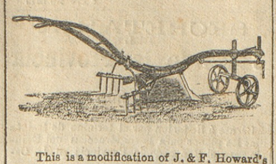
HOWARD'S CELEBRATED PLOUGHS

Howard's
Small Ridging Plough

A small useful iron plough, fitted with a double mould board or earthing up body, and much used by raisie and vegetable growers.

Weight ¾ cwt.

Howard's
Water-Furrow Plough



This is a modification of J. & F. Howard's Ridging Plough. It is used for making the water furrows for surface drainage on arable land; the peculiarity of its working is that the earth thrown up on each side of the furrow by the mould boards, is moved away from the edges of the furrow and is harrowed down level with the field, a level surface is thus left for the Reaping Machine, and drainage is facilitated.

With steel breasts, weight 1¼ cwt.

Howard's
Potato Ploughs.

With a pair of horses, this implement will raise three to four acres of potatoes in day; it leaves fewer in the ground than hand digging, and the roots are raised with less bruising or scratching of the skins than by any other method. These Ploughs have stood the test of many years experience, and the demand grows larger annually,

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

(Ex Army Medical Staff)

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of Opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London "Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
